The Young Entrepreneurs Going Places Conference 98 provides a fun, information-packed, idea-sharing opportunity for young entrepreneurs from Atlantic Canada. The conference is designed to motivate students to explore entrepreneurship as a way of life, share ideas with other entrepreneurs and provide networking opportunities.

Seminars, workshops and forum discussions led by professionals and successful entrepreneurs will show young people the ropes of the business world, from startup to sustaining success.

Young entrepreneurs can hone their skills, share strategies and develop new relationships, and apply this knowledge to create a strong entrepreneurial climate and improve the economy.

The Young Entrepreneurs Going Places Conference 98 is funded by the Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency, Human Resources Development Canada and the Nova Scotia Department of Economic Development and Tourism.

The conference is sponsored by Clearwater Fine Foods, MT&T Business Communications and the Royal Bank.
